Pet Butler Wins Comerica Collin 60 Award, Recognizing Its Rapid Growth in 2006

DALLAS – May 16, 2007 – Pet Butler, the nation's leading pet waste cleanup service, has been recognized as the seventh fastest growing company in Collin County, Texas. Its ranking was announced Friday at the annual awards ceremony.

The company, which ranked 10th last year, has experienced a 72 percent compound annual growth rate based on its 2003 revenue, the base year used to calculate the Comerica Collin 60 finalists. Year by year, Pet Butler saw 30 percent growth in 2004, 55 percent growth in 2005, and a phenomenal 154 percent growth in 2006.

The Comerica Collin 60 annually recognizes the 60 fastest-growing companies in the county. Qualifying businesses had to have been operating since 2002, be privately owned, and have top-line sales in 2003 of $250,000 to $20 million. The companies were then ranked by the percentage of growth during the last three years. There are more than 13,000 privately held companies in Collin County.

Pet Butler proudly bills itself "#1 in the #2 business." It charges a small per-visit fee for its technicians to collect dog and cat waste, carry it away, and dispose of it properly. Whether in yards or in public spaces, accumulated domestic animal waste can ruin lawns and present a significant source of water pollution.

Pet Butler has grown from a one-person enterprise to 16 full-time employees and nearly 70 franchises in 18 states. The company calculated that it recently picked up its 35 millionth pile of poop and is well on target for $4 million in revenue in 2007.

“Our employees and franchise partners are doing a wonderful job making Pet Butler a household name,” said Matt “Red” Boswell, CEO (Chief Excrement Officer) of Pet Butler. “Picking up poop for a living has turned into a very prosperous business venture. We simply found a need and are meeting it.”

The top 60 fastest-growing companies in Collin County, one of the fastest growing and wealthiest counties in the nation, are recognized at an annual awards luncheon. The annual awards program is sponsored by Comerica Bank.
